REGENERATION OF AUSTRIA IS BASIC NOTE OF LEAGUE TALKS

Plan Of Financial Reconstruction Is Approved

SOLUTION HAILED

Whole Of Europe To Be Benefitted By Plan, Belief

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, October 4.—The birth of a nation was the keynote of the speeches at the public meeting of the League of Nations today, which unanimously approved the plan for the financial reconstruction of Austria. The unbounded cordiality of the delegates and the public applause, which greeted the consistently sympathetic speeches, indicated that the problem had finally received a solution to the general satisfaction of Austria and the whole of Europe. Earl Balfour expressed himself delighted with the League's solution and hoped that Austria would again become a great factor in European civilization.

London, October 5.—Baron Hayaashi, interviewed by Reuter's representative on his return from Geneva, said that the Assembly of the League of Nations had accomplished valuable work. He was sure that a solution of the Austrian question would be found. The League had taken a step forward with regard to disarmament by appointing a committee to continue the discussion and by proposing a naval conference of the Powers which had not signed the Washington resolutions. Baron Hayaashi said that it was his opinion that the League, including Turkey, should be asked to guarantee the freedom of the Straits. His faith in the League was strengthened and he was more than ever convinced of the desirability of referring to it questions which it was difficult for independent States to settle.

Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, interviewed by Reuter on his return from Geneva, expressed the satisfaction of the Chinese delegation at the re-election of China as non-permanent member of the Council of the League, which, he said, was partly due to the delegation's resolution with regard to the allocation of seats on the Council in accordance with the principle of geographical representation, China being naturally selected to represent Asia.

Mr. Chu referred to the good feeling manifested by all the delegates at Geneva towards Dr. Wellington Koo. He described the efforts of the delegation with regard to optimum. Mr. Chu added that China's reservation with regard to the maintenance of a naval force sufficient to defend her long coast line would be discussed at the International Naval Disarmament Conference to be summoned shortly by the Council of the League.

Chinese Delegation To Pacific Meeting Sails This Morning

The Chinese delegation to the Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference will sail for Honolulu this morning at 9:30 o'clock on the steamer President Wilson from the China Merchants' Central Wharf. A large number of prominent Chinese are expected to be present to bid the delegates bon voyage.

The delegation will consist of Mr. H. Y. Moh, principal delegate, and Mr. S. U. Zau, both appointed by the Central Government, and Messrs. Paul Y. Pih and Chao Kwei-feng, representing local organizations. It will also have one secretary, Mr. Tseng Hsi-tao.

"Hobo King" Is Canadian War Hero

SOME weeks ago a shabby, mysterious, but perfectly mannered man registered at a Seattle (Wash.) hotel as "Hobo King." His real identity was concealed until it became known that he was Captain John J. Roche, Canadian war hero, author and world traveler, and that he had been married to Mrs. Alice Marie Jordan, widow of the commander of the U. S. S. Dauntless, killed in action off the coast of Mexico in 1918 by a German raider. Captain Roche, it developed, made a wager of $38,000 that he could travel around the American continent without revealing his identity. Roche would not have completed his task until January, 1923, so he loses his bet by a few months.

MOON IS BRIGHT FOR MID-AUTUMN FESTIVAL RITES

Feast Day Closes Auspiciously For Chinese Here

The moon last night, if you chanced to notice, shone brightly. Thereby occasioning joyous heart-throbs among a number of thousands of Chinese households hereabouts, the date happening to coincide with that set for the Mid-Autumn Festival, feast-day, holiday and general settling up of accounts day for the Flowery Republic. Anybody exempt from a severe cold traversing the thoroughfares and near-thoroughfares of our city last evening was nasally aware of "something new and strange," as M. Shakespeare so deftly put it. There was an overlying strata of sandalwood scent which dominated the garish laden exhalations of the richly wafting fraternity and the billowing, overpowering emanations of the corner fish shop. According to Chinese calculations this refreshingly different ration of breathing material was addressed to the Jade Rabbit who dwells in the Moon and presides over the fortunes of the populace until the next holiday comes along. If the rabbit aforementioned has been hovering over these precincts at all regularly he, or she, as the case may be, will doubtless give the city a credit mark in the big book. At any rate the late shift reporter hereby records his appreciation—his nightly itinerary carrying him along the borders of the Chinese City and about the Bund.

In observance of the day most of the foreign hotels and all of the larger Chinese establishments closed to business, while last evening Chinese families gathered for the observance of the Fall festival, dining together and re-binding the family ties which may have become loosened in the weeks which have elapsed since the Dragon Boat festival.

Down at Kiangwan a lot of ponies capered about the 1 1/2 mile oval to the delectation or despair of many thousands. According to the early shift reporter the well-known orb and its stone rabbit tenant did not perform with much potency in that district.

JAPAN'S TRADE

Tokyo, Oct. 4.—The Department of Finance reports that for the month of September, Japan's foreign trade amounted to 149,572,000 in exports and 134,405,000 in imports, the balance being Y. 15,167,000 in favor of exports.

Desire For Co-operation Is Expressed By Council And Advisory Committee

Entertainments Of New Board By S. M. C. Seek To Clear Atmosphere Of Suspicion Between Governing Body And Chinese

A detailed report of the two entertainments by the Municipal Council in honor of the new Chinese Advisory Committee, which were briefly reported in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday, has been made public by Mr. N. O. Liddell, secretary and commissioner general. The text follows: "On Tuesday, October 3, the Chairman of Council met the members of the Chinese Advisory Committee and conducted them over the new Administration Building, when some of the more interesting features of the work of certain departments were explained to the committee by the heads of the departments concerned. It is hoped that at a later date the members of the committee will visit the remaining departments.

Portuguese Here Celebrate Holiday

Portuguese residents of Shanghai celebrated their national holiday yesterday with exercises that were held at the Portuguese Consulate on Wellsway Road. Preceding the holiday a colorful dancing party was held at the Lusitano Club on Wednesday night. In the course of this party the clock was striking twelve midnight, Mr. A. Casanova, Portuguese Consul-General gave a toast to the Republic with a short address which was followed by an address by Mr. C. E. L. Ozorio, Vice President of the Club. At the Portuguese Consulate yesterday the Portuguese flag was raised with the playing of the National Anthem at 11 o'clock in the morning. This ceremony was attended by the Portuguese Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps as a mark of honor. Following the flag raising the official reception was held by Mr. Casanova at the Consulate.

TWO PRESIDENT BOATS SAILING WITH U. S. MAILS

Wilson Is Leaving Today For San Francisco-Jackson Will Depart Sunday

Mail for Honolulu, California, and the Southern States will be dispatched on the President Wilson of the Pacific Mail from the American Post Office today. The vessel may be put up to 7:30 o'clock this morning. Another mail for the United States will go on the President Jackson of the Admiral Line Sunday and will close at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning for ordinary and 6 p.m. tomorrow for registered.

The Jackson left Hongkong yesterday and is to dock at the China Merchants Central Wharf about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The vessel will sail at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning and is scheduled to arrive in Seattle via Kobe and Yokohama on October 24. The Empress of Russia of the Canadian Pacific left Hongkong at noon yesterday and arrives off Wootung on tomorrow. The tender with incoming passengers is expected at Customs' jetty about 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The liner will sail for Vancouver on tomorrow night and arrives there via Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama on October 23. Outbound passengers are to leave on the tender Alexandria from the Customs jetty at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The steamer Tenyo Maru of T. K. K. is scheduled to leave Wootung for Japan ports, Honolulu and San Francisco Sunday evening and is due there on November 1. The next mail from America will arrive next Wednesday on the China Mail steamer Nanking from San Francisco, Honolulu and Japanese ports. The President Lincoln of the Pacific Mail is coming via the same route and is due in Shanghai on October 13.

American Gob Tells Why The Navy 'Y' Is All 'O.K.'

With 4,000 American sailors in port it occurred to the chiefs of the Navy Y. M. C. A. to put the question "What does the Navy 'Y' mean to a sailor?" The query was put and responses from the Navy men were forthcoming. The following was the reply which the Navy 'Y' deemed best of the lot and soon the prize offered. An American sailor can discover, invent, or think of more excuses for going ashore in ten minutes than there are ricksha coolies in Shanghai. It makes no difference to him what excuse he offers, if it seems plausible to him. He springs it on the "Honorable Custodian of the Liberty Passes."

U. S. ATTITUDE ON EUROPE'S DEBTS IS REITERATED

Treasury Officials Oppose Cancellation Or Reduction

(Reuter's Service) Washington, Oct. 5.—In connection with Mr. Reginald McKenna's suggestion of a reduction of the principal foreign debts, Treasury officials express the opinion that a general cancellation or wholesale reduction of debts would injure the welfare of the world, creating a lack of confidence in governmental obligations, but it is indicated that the United States is indisposed to press harshly for payment of the debts. Payment by Great Britain, however, is regarded as unquestionable and it is believed that the Chinese are an opportunity of studying municipal affairs from a Western point of view, so that in due course Chinese representatives would be able to take their places as our colleagues on the Council. It is a matter for regret that no till now little or no progress has been made in the furtherance of either of these two objects, and the time has come when it is necessary to examine carefully the reasons for this failure, and if possible make a fresh start fully determined that our objects shall be fulfilled.

Labor To Summon Peace Conference

(Reuter's Service) Amsterdam, October 4.—The International Federation of Trade-unions, claiming to represent 20,000,000 workers, has summoned a world peace conference for December 10, to which all peace-operative and labor organizations, including the rival internationalists, are invited.

KEMAL AGENT PUTS BLAME FOR TROUBLE ON VENIZELOS

Says Adoption Of His Suggestions Would Mean War

GREEKS ACCUSED

Guilty Of Excesses To Other Nationals, Envoys Says

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 4.—M. Poincare has agreed to receive M. Venizelos on Friday.

London, Oct. 5.—Replying to M. Venizelos's letter to the Times, Rehad Bey, the Ankara representative, accuses M. Venizelos of responsibility for the present impasse and fears that if his suggestions should be acted upon the results would be far more terrible than those which followed upon the adoption of his policy in 1919. Rehad Bey counter-accuses the Greeks of excesses and intolerance of other nationalities and asserts that there are less than 400,000 Greeks in Constantinople and East Thrace.

London, Oct. 4.—A semi-official telegram from Athens, which has not been confirmed up to the present, states that the Turks bombarded an American destroyer which was shipping refugees at Alvali.

London, Oct. 4.—It is understood that M. Venizelos called on the American Ambassador, Colonel Harvey today and requested the United States to intervene in the Near East and to use its influence, with the Allies to despatch troops to control Thrace until the Christians had been evacuated.

Constantinople, Oct. 4.—Sir Charles Harington opened the proceedings at Mudania with an address in which he defined the objects of the Conference, namely, (1) the cessation of hostilities, (2) the determination of the line behind which the Greeks should be invited to withdraw and also to arrange the details of evacuation and handing over the administration to the Turks, and (3) to pave the way to a peace conference.

The Turks at the beginning did not show interest in the details of administration until they had tested the Allies' sincerity with regard to the restoration of Thrace but, when it was pointed out that restoration depended on acceptance of the Allied Note, Ismet Pasha announced that the Note was officially accepted in principle. Following this announcement General Charpy drafted a proposal dealing with the administration. The conference sat for five hours and broke up in a cheerful atmosphere.

Constantinople, October 4.—A communique from the British headquarters states: "The conference at Mudania opened at 3 in the afternoon of Tuesday and proceeded satisfactorily. Ismet Pasha has again issued orders to the Nationalist troops to avoid all contact. The Nationalists have accepted the principle of the Allied Note."

A communique from the French headquarters states: "Thanks to the conciliatory disposition of both sides at the meeting between the Allied Generals and Ismet Pasha, agreement was reached without difficulty with regard to the majority of articles, constituting the question of basis. The meeting ended at eight in the evening and was resumed at ten this morning. The Allied Generals in the interval exchanged views with regard to non-fundamental objections of the Turkish delegate. The general impression is very satisfactory."

Both communique state that the Greek military mission is expected today.

Mustapha Kemal has arrived at London.

London, Oct. 4.—No pressmen are allowed at Mudania, on the subject of which the greatest secrecy is being maintained. Two obstacles are indicated by British commentators today as likely to prevent immediate settlement of the terms of the Turco-Greek armistice, namely, the Greek refusal to evacuate Thrace and the Turkish insistence on British withdrawal from Chanak. It is declared that the British attitude in the latter respect is unweakened, while as regards Greece it is believed that M. Venizelos insists on the new Government recognising the facts of the situation before he accepts the mandate to represent them abroad. With reference to the Greek apprehensions of immediate Turkish occupation of East Thrace, even by gendarmerie as suggested in Constantinople, it is pointed out in London that the joint Allied note of September 23 laid down that the Allies should administer East Thrace pending settlement at a full conference. Their immediate objective is to secure the Greek withdrawal and they are not likely to tolerate the landing of Turkish forces which would be the swiftest method of setting the Balkans afire.

The Inter-Allied Missions to Thrace have already departed and it is hoped that they will succeed in pacifying the population pending a temporary Allied administration.

(China Press Service)
Paris, Oct. 5.—The Chicago Tribune (Paris Edition) publishes a dispatch that Secretary Hughes has addressed a note to Greece and other interested Powers insisting that American lives, property and rights be respected by the belligerents in the Near East. The note demands furthermore that Christian minorities in Turkey as well as Mohammedan minorities in Thrace be safeguarded at all costs.

(Reuter's Service)
Berlin, Oct. 4.—It is reported from Moscow that the Near Eastern situation and the Urquhart-Kraissin Agreement are blamed for M. Lenin's return to work in defiance of medical advice.

(China Press Service)
Paris, Oct. 4.—General Nider has been appointed to the command of the Greek Army.

London, Oct. 4.—A dispatch to the London Times announces that the Turks have withdrawn from Karabagh, but reinforcements have appeared in the neutral zone north east of Chank near Bergatz and Kuskent.

Liberals Charge British Ultimatum Was Sent To Turks

(Reuter's Service)
London, Oct. 4.—The Manchester Guardian says that when Parliament meets the Independent Liberals will demand the papers, covering the dangerous 16 days since September 15. It alleges that the attitude of the British Government completely changed after the Greek revolution, resulting in the statement of September 29 about an ultimatum to Mustafa Kemal but Sir Charles Harlington virtually refused to deliver the ultimatum, and he was supported in this by Admiral Sir Osmond Brock and the High Commissioner, Sir Horace Rumbold. The Independent Liberals consider that Sir Charles Harlington's action saved the Empire from war. The Manchester Guardian, in an editorial article, declares that the present situation is obscure and threatening and public opinion must be roused to prevent the Government, whose temper is in no way pacific, from yielding to the temptation of covering up past blunders by committing others which would bring calamity to the nation.

help to rid him of that "wealthy feeling."

These are perhaps the main reasons for "hitting the beach"; but, still, a sailor is human (some people doubt this) and he must have recreation and amusement as well as any other person. Some time he wants to read—the "Y" has books, papers and magazines—if he can't read, some of the books have pictures in them. Most of the men like to write home—not as often as we should, but we write just the same. Just look the States mail over some time, and see the number of envelopes that bear the "Y" triangle on the outside.

Perhaps most of us seem rough and "hard-boiled," but a sailor had rather spend an evening in a place like the "Y" at a dance or an entertainment than at any other place. He may look bored to death, but he is having the time of his life, or he'd leave. He knows that any night he is ashore, there is something at the "Y" for his special benefit. If not a dance, then pictures or some sort of entertainment.

He knows that he can request information about any place or anything in town, and be directed to the place, or have his questions answered in a satisfactory manner. The "Y" is usually centrally located, and "Jack" knows that every sailor in the Fleet knows where it is. When he says, "I'll meet you at the 'Y'" you know where he means.

To the sailor, the "Y" means "home," or nearer home than any other place he can hit. Here various bar-rooms of the town. Take a man ashore, introduce him to nice people, let him have a good time, and the next time he comes ashore, see whether he goes to a bar-room or not. A man is known by the company he keeps—a sailor is influenced by either the company he is forced to keep, or by the people he has a chance to meet.

Most of the fellows are used to attending parties at home. Shanghai is practically the only port this side of Frisco where some one tries to make us feel that we are more than ricksha coolies or carometta drivers. Entertainments similar to the ones given by the Navy "Y" tend to reduce the "bats" in the sailor's answer—make him feel that although he is ten thousand miles from home someone cares what he is doing and realizes that he is an American.

If you have a friend in the Fleet, drop by the "Y" to see him. If he isn't there, he'll be there in short order, provided he hasn't received an invitation from headquarters to "stay aboard awhile and get acquainted with the ship."

Barthou To Take Place Of Dubois

(Reuter's Service)
Paris, October 4.—It is confirmed that M. Poincare will ask M. Barthou to succeed M. Dubois on the Reparations Commission. This involves a slight reconstruction of the Cabinet. M. Dubois is reported to have resigned as a result of a difference with M. Poincare.

New York, Oct. 4.—Addressing the Bankers' Association Convention today Mr. Reginald McKenna, dealing with reparations and international debts, said that Germany's exports barely equal her imports and have furnished no surplus for reparations. He suggested the practicability of Germany selling their foreign assets, which he estimated at $1,000,000,000, to the German Government, which could hand them over to the Reparations Commission.

No other money payments should be demanded from Germany for at least three years. The result, Mr. McKenna declared, would be to arrest the fall of the mark and generally to stabilise exchanges. Great Britain was able to pay the interest and the sinking fund of her debt to America but none of the other debtors were able to meet more than a small part of their external liabilities.

Mr. McKenna suggested the postponement of their payment and conference of creditors and debtors to inquire into their exportable surplus and to ascertain the amount they could ultimately pay.

settled here by force, in other words they look upon them as invaders.

"Gentlemen, your minds need not be agitated on this score as an aggressive policy towards Chinese is out of the question. I would ask you rather to dwell on the many proofs of friendship towards China on the part of foreigners, so recently evidenced by the Washington Conference, which has resulted in the decision to hand back Kiaochow and Weihaiwei, and abolish foreign post offices in China.

"On the other hand in Shanghai any attempt at development on our part is still looked upon by the Chinese with suspicion, as a further encroachment, and is wrecked against the barrier of China's sovereign rights. What the Chinese should realize by this time is that our control of this Settlement has no sinister purpose. Our mission here is a very peaceful one, that is to carry on trade with China. We have no territorial ambitions whatsoever, and what is known as Settlement Extension is merely a natural desire for more space to meet the extraordinary expansion of this large and ever-growing city.

HAVE COMMON INTEREST

"Both Chinese and foreigners in Shanghai have one interest in common, to see that they possess honest and capable administration, and a well disciplined and efficient force to preserve order. Only on that basis can trade be carried on and the present feeling of security we enjoy is as much appreciated by Chinese as by foreigners. Without it both of us would be involved in most serious losses.

"The financial interests of Shanghai are too great to warrant our trying any experiments, and however much we may desire to assist our Chinese friends into the Municipal saddle, our paramount duty is to preserve our common interests by maintaining and developing the present high standard of administration. It must be admitted that China's progress towards good government is slow, and her old system of maladministration is difficult to eradicate. At the same time we cannot withhold sympathy from those who are honestly striving for a better China, and it is both our desire and our duty to encourage them as long as their endeavors are wisely directed.

VOICE FROM CHINA

"Foreigners in Shanghai must prepare to admit that we are about to enter a transition stage, when the old system of not allowing Chinese to have any voice in the administration of the Settlement will gradually give way to a new system when Chinese will share our responsibilities. It will be a difficult stage to go through, as there will be a natural desire on the part of the Chinese to go too fast. It will require great patience and co-operation between the responsible Chinese and the foreigners, if good progress is to be made so as not to prejudice the security we mutually enjoy at present.

"Confidence is a difficult thing to establish, but you will go a long way towards gaining this essential if you will use your influence in counteracting the present attitude of blocking the development and improvement of this growing city on the plea that such demands are only excuses on the part of the foreigners to increase their hold on China and prejudice her independence. Such an attitude only tends to hinder the fulfillment of that object you so ardently desire, that is to have a voice in the administration of the Settlement."

OFFERS HELP

"I take it your ultimate ambition is to be able to satisfy the Treaty Powers that the important interests both foreign and Chinese in Shanghai can be safeguarded equally well under Chinese management as they have hitherto been under a Municipality in charge of foreigners only. You Chinese gentlemen who represent big Chinese interests here are under no misapprehension as to the difficulties which have to be overcome before that goal can be reached, but in your capacity as members of the Chinese Advisory Committee you can do a great deal to bridge over those difficulties by creating a better atmosphere through frank and open discussions between us on Municipal matters, and by removing that feeling that in every effort on our part towards improving and developing our municipal activities we have an ulterior motive of a political nature. We on our part will not withhold from you our sympathy and help in those discussions.

"To summarise, the objections to Chinese government which have been advanced, and are still held by the foreign population of Shanghai, will most readily be removed if and when it is seen that you, our Chinese friends, are willing and able to co-operate with us in aiming at and go ahead with an efficient administration of this Settlement.

"I trust, Gentlemen, that you will avail yourselves of this favorable opportunity to have an exchange of views, and thus create an atmosphere of friendliness which will, I feel sure be to our mutual benefit.

"I will now ask you to drink the health of the members of the Chinese Advisory Committee."

YANGTZE AREA COULD PRODUCE MUCH MORE SILK

Expert Declares Raw Output
Could Be Greatly Increased

The possibilities for expansion of the raw silk production of the Yangtze Valley were sketched yesterday by Mr. Daniel E. Douty, head of the Shanghai Silk Testing House, at the Rotary Club's weekly meeting. Mr. Douty, who is an expert of international reputation, is leaving shortly to attend the silk exposition to be held in New York.

Mr. Douty told of the difficulties encountered by the international committee in convincing Chinese farmers that eggs which were free of disease would increase the ultimate production, and showed moving pictures of the industry in Japan where it is highly specialized in a technical way.

He described how the silk manufacturing world turned their eyes toward the Far East when France, Italy and Asia Minor failed to produce sufficient raw silk. He pointed out the value of the silk industry to China and the opportunity that this country had to press Japan for the lead in raw silk production.

He told of the interest American manufacturers had in the industry as fifty percent of the world's supply of raw silk had been marketed in the United States in the past 15 years, the ratio going much higher in recent years. France is disappearing as a raw silk producing factor while Italy's output is decreasing and conditions are hopeless in Asia Minor.

TO EMULATE JAPAN

"These are the reasons for Japan's predominance, he said, and this is why we are attempting to get the Chinese farmer interested. We are trying to get silk centers to produce more and better fibre and follow the example of Japan where strict government regulations have aided that country to make rapid advances."

Movies were screened showing the various stages of the industry from the selection of cocoons to un-reeling. Mr. Douty said the Chinese farmer was far behind the Japanese and asserted that but 15 percent of the Chinese silk worms were free from disease, because the eggs were not looked after properly. Lack of uniformity and application of scientific methods were the worst handicaps for the Chinese farmer, he told the Rotarians.

In discussing conditions in South China, the speaker said that the International Committee was hampered because after it had been arranged to allocate a certain sum of money for research work to Canton from the Peking Government, the Government in Canton refused to make the request of Peking and Peking insisted that this request be made by the Canton Christian College in sericulture.

Sees Formidable Revolt In India

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 5.—The Allahabad correspondent of the Daily News states that reports from the Punjab show that the Akali agitation is rapidly developing into a formidable revolutionary movement. The gravity of the situation has recently been increased by secretive propaganda throughout India, including Indian remnants. The correspondent understands that the Khilafat committee are inviting the Governments of Angora, Irak, Egypt, Persia and other Moslem countries to send delegates to a Khilafat conference at Gaya in December.

It is reported from Calcutta that the Caliphate Committee have decided to present an aeroplane to Mustapha Kemal.

Half A Hundred Stowaways Evaporate On Way To Hongkong

The discovery of fifty-four stowaways on the Admiral Line steamer President Jackson has resulted in the arrest of the steamer steward and the chief interpreter of the ship—both Chinese—in Hongkong. They are being held pending the outcome of an investigation regarding the presence of the stowaways.

The men discovered aboard the ship were sent back to China and the Hongkong authorities were notified, but when the ship arrived at the Crown Colony and search was made for the missing whole fifty-four of them had escaped while the vessel was in Shanghai.

Were You Ever as Seasick as This?

Remarkable Results Obtained from "KIRBY'S Sea-Sick Cure"

A prominent physician relates the case of a young man, acutely sea-sick for three days. The third morning he vomited more than a dozen times. After taking the first dose of "KIRBY'S Sea-Sick Cure" he did not vomit again, and was able to eat dinner shortly afterwards. "KIRBY'S Sea-Sick Cure" produces no depression or disagreeable after effects. Its action is almost immediate. It is free from opiates, bromides, chloral and other noxious drugs. It stops and prevents seasickness, motion sickness, and other forms of nausea. Prescribed by physicians and endorsed by them. Sold at all dispensaries at $1.50 per box of 10 doses. FAST RACING FEATURES KIANGWAN'S FALL OPENING

Enlivening dividends and fast racing on a heavy course marked the opening of the fall racing season at Kiangwan yesterday when the first program of the two-day Mid-Autumn Festival meeting was staged. Tuesday is the second day of the meeting when another card of nine events will be given.

Through that went to yesterday's races found a vastly altered Kiangwan, for after one enters the gate the approach to the track has something of the aspect of a big industrial plant in course of construction by reason of the fact that the new grandstand, which is to be the largest in the Far East, is not yet completed. The entire area of lawn behind the old grandstand has disappeared, as the structure now being built covers it all, extending nearly to the frame pari-mutuel pavilion.

Viewed from the front the new grandstand presents the appearance of a huge stadium and since the roof has not yet been built over the structure it may be taken as a special dispensation of the Weather Man that the skies cleared yesterday. The new stand has space for seven thousand spectators and yesterday's throngs more than half filled it. In general favorites ran close to form yesterday and with one or two exceptions dividend payments held to normal levels. The biggest payment of the day developed from the opening event which was won by Mr. Meguro's Ikoma, ridden by Mr. H. Tomono. The payment to those with win tickets in this event ran to $320.80.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer: WHY WORRY OVER DEMPSEY-WILLS

When Pennants Are So Much Closer To Our Hearts And Pocketbooks

BY "BUGS" BAER
There has been plenty of interest manufactured in Dempsey-Wills business.

Wills has been knocking over all the clay pigeons they sprung from the home-made trap. He may be the boy who will knock Jack so cold that his body will keep for a year.

But the bigger they are, the more racket they make when the rope breaks.

Willard went down like a pocketful of German marks.

Fulton collapsed like a double-jointed crutch.

Wills may be better than these two, but there is some difference between using a swatter on a fly and using the same weapon on a puma.

We'd like to see 'em fight because everybody likes to see the best man win no matter what the judges decide.

But why boil over now when they don't pull and tug for almost a year. They fight on Independence Day, a holiday that is almost chewed up by amendments.

In the meantime the Giants and Yanks are clawing around two leagues trying to snatch themselves some pennants.

E. S. BROWN, CREATOR OF ATHLETICS IN PHILIPPINES, HEADS BIG U. S. FEDERATION

Elwood S. Brown, the man who "made" athletics in the Philippine Islands and is responsible for an athletic system which has affected three fourths of the 9,000,000 residents of the Islands, is the executive secretary of the National Amateur Athletic Federation of the United States.

The new organization in athletic America, which really "broke" the monarchical control of the A. A. U. is the actual athletic government in America. Following along the general lines of the Philippine Amateur Athletic

Elwood S. Brown

Federation, also a creature of Brown's enterprise, it embraces the Army and Navy, newest factors in American sport since the war, in addition to the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, another war baby, the Golf Association, Lawn Tennis Association, and other amateur organizations.

In order to take up his new work, Mr. Brown has left the Young Men's Christian Association after years of work for the organization. He rose from a physical director to the executive desk of the department which governs all foreign physical activities and made two trips around the world in the interest of the "Y". Loaned by the "Y" to the Army, Brown was in charge of all Army athletics in France and outlined and supervised the famous "Play for All" program which was a feature of U. S. Army life overseas.

He is wellknown in Shanghai and the entire Far East for his vigorous espousal of athletics. It was he who dreamed of the first Far Eastern Athletic Games after the Philippines began to appreciate the results of athletics and Brown took all the active steps which resulted in the Oriental Olympics. He was also instrumental in encouraging Japan to send a team to the last World's Olympics, where he became internationally famous for his vigorous policies.

A remarkable executive, who did much of his training in the Far East, the news of his newest appointment will be received with satisfaction by his many friends in the Far East.

He is the executive secretary of the newest power in American athletics. Hugh S. Fullerton describes the formation of the new body in the New York Evening Mail as follows: "In a bloodless revolution America's amateur athletic government has changed hands. Control of amateur athletics, sports and physical development of the United States has passed into the hands of the newly

CAPT. HOPKINS, OF BASEBALL TEAM, LEAVES FOR HOME

Captain Hopkins, who led the Shanghai Baseball team through the season just finished, which was the most successful season in the history of the sport here, has left Shanghai. He sailed Thursday morning on the President Grant, of the Admiral line, for Manila and Hongkong, and will return to Seattle with that vessel on its forthcoming homeward cruise. From Seattle Hoppy will proceed direct to Beaumont, Texas, his native town, where he will relocate permanently.

Hoppy came to the East six years ago as a sailor on an American warship, having enlisted in the navy six months previous to the entrance of the United States into the World War. He was stationed, first at Manila, and later in Shanghai. After his term of enlistment was up Hoppy left the Navy and came to Shanghai, where he continued to live until his departure yesterday.

From the time of his arrival in Shanghai Hoppy was actively and enthusiastically interested in baseball, and for three years he was a leading player on the local team, of which he was elected captain at the beginning of the 1922 season. At different times Hoppy played the outfield and first base, and this year he pitched several games. Ever since he came to town the retiring captain has been a tower of strength to the team, both in the field and as a batsman. In each of the three years he played here Hoppy finished with a batting average of better than .300, and in the field he always put up a steady, dependable game. Last year, in mid-season, he was severely injured in a collision with Hawley, of the U.S.S. Albany, at second base, his right leg being so badly twisted that he was out of the game for several weeks.

This year, although the injury to his leg was not entirely healed, he displayed a brilliant brand of baseball from the start, and with one or two exceptions, when he was unable to play on account of business, he was in every game the team played. At the start of the season Hoppy held down the first base job in fine style, but when Harry Kingman was transferred here from Nanking Hoppy put the former big leaguer on first and switched himself to the outfield, where he played brilliantly through the remainder of the season.

Notwithstanding the many handicaps the player-captain in Shanghai has to contend with, chief of which is getting a team to the park in time for the games, Hoppy gave the fans here a brand of baseball that would have done credit to any city in the lesser leagues at home. The Shanghai team is composed entirely of amateurs who play wholly for the love of the sport, and as many of the first line players were unable to get away from their work in time to start the games, even when the starting hour was made as late as possible, it is very creditable to Hoppy's organizing ability that he managed to keep the team working together so well.

Hoppy has won a warm place in the affections of Shanghai people, both on and off the baseball field, and all who know him sincerely regret his departure, which decided upon with such suddenness that there was no time to give him a proper "send off." However, the President Grant will return to Shanghai before leaving for America those of the former captain's friends here who did not get a chance to see him before he left for the south will be on hand when his ship returns to bid him farewell, and to wish him the great success that he deserves when he gets back to his home in Texas.

RAINMAKER OF U. S. WINS FAME BY WORK ABROAD

Torrential Downpour Breaks Torrid Drought In Italy

Rome, Sept. 2.—Dr. Hatfield, the American rainmaker, is a bigger hero in Italy than Gabriele D'Annunzio, because of a torrential downpour in Southern Italy after four months of torrid drought.

Dr. Hatfield came to Italy a couple of weeks ago with his apparatus for making it rain, and established headquarters at Naples while he was studying conditions. Then he disappeared, and even the American Embassy was not aware of his whereabouts.

But the sudden heavy precipitation, dissipating the intense heat wave and giving welcome rain everywhere, is accredited to Hatfield. The newspapers are giving columns of space to the phenomenon, and are searching for Dr. Hatfield everywhere.

A movement is on foot by the government to pay Hatfield one million lire for the secret of causing precipitation.

In 1905 Southern California, entering upon the second year of a costly drought, was thrown into a state midway between skepticism and hope when Charles H. Hatfield, who was experimenting in the Altadena foothills, announced he could make it rain by a secret chemical process he had discovered. He was offered $1,000 by Los Angeles business men if he succeeded in bringing rain eighteen times between December 15 and May 1. Nineteen downpours totaling nineteen inches of rain fell in the specified time, and he collected from the scoffers.

From that time on he was summoned to various localities, including Wisconsin and Medicine Hat, Alberta, where the aridity spelled crop failures. He collected large sums in bonuses and generally was asked to call off Jupiter Pluvius because of excessive precipitation.

He has never divulged the secret of his rain making beyond stating that his chemicals attract moist atmosphere. The chemicals are contained in a tank and are projected into the air from a high tower.

McAdoo Scouts At Candidacy

(China Press Service)

Idaho Falls, Idaho, October 3.—William G. McAdoo, ex-secretary of the treasury, today characterized as "pure bunk" the recent report from New York that William Lyons of Denver said Mr. McAdoo told him that he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for president in 1924. Mr. McAdoo said return to public life was furthest from his mind.

Wedding

McCORMICK—McCLOY

Miss Frances Chambers McCloy of Yokohama and Mr. Frank E. McCormick were married at the home of the bride in Yokohama on September 28, the Rev. C. L. Noyes, pastor of the Yokohama Union Church, officiating, following a civil ceremony at the American Consulate-General. Miss McCloy was given in marriage by Mr. William Graham, and her sister, Miss Grace Mc-

Cloy, was bridesmaid. Mr. Jack Read was groomsmen and Mr. P. H. Kipp and Mr. E. L. Swift were ushers. Both have been in the employ of the Standard Oil Company and all members of the staff in Yokohama attended. The honeymoon is being spent at Kowakidani, near Miyazoshita.

The Invisible Bond

ADOLPH ZUKOR Presents
IRENE CASTLE

'THE INVISIBLE BOND'

Actress, dancer, leader of fashion—in all these roles the name of Irene Castle is a household word. And in all these roles she appears in "The Invisible Bond." But beneath is something tigger, fuller, deeper—the role of Irene Castle as wife and mother.

The story of a woman who saw another, in the fast set of New York, lure away her husband, yet remained true and won in the end.

Beautiful scenes, charming gowns, an absorbing drama and a splendid cast. Founded on Sophie Kerr Underwood's novel, "The See-Saw." You'll be mighty glad you came!

Coal Market

In their fortnightly report on the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

JAPAN COAL
Since last writing a certain amount of "hand-to-mouth" business has been done with native dealers and there is still a certain amount of inquiry going on, but nothing of any importance has resulted so far and we do not think that sellers will commence negotiations for next year's supplies for another month or so.

FUSHUN COAL
A fair amount of business is being done in this staple as, owing to the shortage of coal in Japan, Fushun is being largely called upon to take its place.

KAIKING COAL
Although coal is arriving with greater freedom it is not coming forward at a sufficient rate to make up arrears and deliveries pass quickly to consumption. Stocks accordingly remain at a minimum and prices are well maintained.

Freight Market

In their fortnightly report on the freight market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

The export trade from China to Europe and America is as stagnant as ever; if anything, the situation is worse as the tea season is drawing to a close and there is not much tea going forward at present.

Coastwise.—We have no change to report on this market since last writing and except for a few fixtures from northern ports southwards there is very little doing—the export of rice from Yangtze ports has not yet commenced except for small lots by regular liners.

Vladivostok Forts
Blown Up, Report

(China Press Service)

Harbin, Oct. 3.—A series of gigantic explosions which partially wrecked Russian Fort No. 8 at Vladivostok causing great damage and loss of life occurred on the morning of Sept. 29, according to meagre reports received here.

Despite the refusal of the authorities to give any explanation it was learned that great quantities of munitions, including shells, land and sea mines, bombs and hand grenades stored in the fort's ammunition dump began exploding at 7.00 a.m. during the change of the Japanese guard.

An hour later a cursory examination revealed the fact that the two reinforced concrete cellars had been completely demolished and the building itself was tottering on its foundations. Fearing that there were many "live" shells beneath the debris strict orders were issued forbidding anyone to approach within 150 yards of the danger zone.

Apparently the fears were justified, since four hours later another series of explosions greater than the first occurred in an adjoining munitions dump where large quantities of powder were stored. The whole garrison was immediately turned out to fight the ensuing fires which quickly spread to all parts of the military enclosure. No statement has been issued regarding the loss of life nor the amount of damage.

The mystery about the cause of the explosions is still unsolved although reports are current that it was directly aimed at the "liquidation" of all Russian arms whose present whereabouts or future destination has not yet been determined.

English Boy Writes
Shakespeare Opera

(China Press Service)

London.—British music lovers are anxiously awaiting the reception of the new opera, "Merchant of Venice," written by Adrian Beecham, the 17-year-old son of Sir Thomas Beecham, for years England's main exponent of English opera.

The boy has completed the work without the knowledge of his father and during the time Sir Thomas has been unsuccessfully striving to get a new and purely English opera.

Semenoff May
Retire To Korea

The Seoul Press publishes for what it may be worth a rumor that Headman Semenoff is seeking a retreat in Korea, and that his choice may fall on Tongnai (Tongnai) noted for its hot springs. Mr. Sezo, Japanese hanger-on of the Headman, arrived at Seoul a few days ago and left for Tongnai. Negotiations are said to have already been opened for the purchase of a lot near the hot springs by an agent of the Headman.

Jazz Records And
Electric Fans Speed
Up Brick Layers

(China Press Service)

Quitman, Miss., (by mail).—Bricklayers work like fiends when jazz music from a phonograph is played. It was shown in a test made here by A. B. Morse, general manager of the Long-Bell plant.

Mortar mixers also are more productive of work in the summer, when they can take turns sitting under electric fans, another test by Morse proves.

The phonograph was installed at the plant, being rebuilt after a fire, to relieve the monotony experienced by men working at night. All the records, about forty, were of jazz and a boy was employed with no other duty than to keep the machine running all night.

When Morse made inventory he discovered that 15,000 more bricks had been laid over the number laid in a similar period when there was no phonograph jazz.

More than that, the night men did more work than those of the day shift.

Installation of electric fans followed several heat prostrations among mortar mixers. The mixers were installed in a shed nearby and two shifts of men put on the job, one taking a turn at working, the other at being fanned.

Work of rebuilding the plant was completed in twenty days.

Maternity Aid Law
Attacked By Mass

(China Press Service)

Washington, October 3.—The State of Massachusetts has filed a petition in the supreme court of the United States, attacking the constitutionality of the Towne maternity act which it is declared violates the constitutional rights of the States by causing the appropriation of large sums of money by the States to meet equal sums appropriated by the national government.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periodontitis, osteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Heir To Millions
Located In Siam
After Long Search

(China Press Service)

Popular Bluff, Mo., Sept. 10.—After a world wide search for William Sample, heir to a fortune estimated at $2,500,000, lasting for four months, the new millionaire was found on a steamship in the harbor of Bangkok, Siam, ready to sail to America for a visit to his home in south-east Missouri.

George Pind, of Cape Girardeau, has been conducting the search in order that he might turn over the vast fortune to its owner. The fortune was left to Sample by relatives who recently died.

As the news of the search for Sample found its way to every nook and corner of the globe, hundreds of "William Samples" applied to Pind for the money. When they would arrive at Cape Girardeau and find Pind, the latter would make them turn around, and he would look at the back of their necks before making any statement.

Pind stated, after the rightful owner of the fortune was located, that the rightful heir had a scar on the back of his neck and that this mark would be the deciding factor in ascertaining the one

WEATHER

Overcast and showery weather, improving probably tomorrow because of the high pressures. Unsteady breezes all along our coasts. The typhoon will continue to advance from Guam towards the Bonin and Japan.

The Council and The Committee

ELSEWHERE we publish this morning a detailed report of the two functions given by the Municipal Council in honor of the Chinese Advisory Committee, an inspection of the administrative building and a dinner at which greetings were exchanged. They are significant in the history of the municipality and are not to be classified in the same category of social affairs as those where international or inter-racial goodwill is promoted.

We believe these meetings mark the turning point: that the Council is making a determined effort to co-operate with the Chinese community to make this city a better place to live in and trade in. It is gratifying to learn that the chairman of the council, instead of keeping the entertainment strictly social, has taken this opportunity to point out frankly the atmosphere of suspicion which has been hanging over the heads of the council and the committee for the last 18 months.

Significant in Mr. Simms' speech at the dinner is the statement that "Foreigners in Shanghai must prepare to admit that we are about to enter a transition stage when the old system of not allowing Chinese to have any voice in the administration of the settlement will gradually give way to a new system when Chinese will share our responsibilities." He qualifies this statement by adding "It will be a difficult stage to go through, as there will be a natural desire on the part of the Chinese to go too fast. It will require great patience and co-operation between the responsible Chinese, and the foreigners if good progress is to be made so as not to prejudice the security we mutually enjoy at present."

All thinking Chinese will admit that the utterance of Mr. Simms is reasonable and based on experience. No thinking Chinese would desire to have the administration of the Settlement turned over to the Chinese overnight even if this were possible, but they do contend that they have their grievances which up to the present have met with little consideration from the Council on account of the absence of a medium through which these grievances might be aired and sympathetically dealt with by the high administrative body of this city.

Happily, the personnel of the Advisory committee, is especially fitted to perform the two functions originally contemplated. Four of the five members were educated abroad; they are capable of thinking in Western ways and of seeing things from a Western viewpoint without losing sight of their own high ideals while the fifth is familiar with Western ways by and has kept himself in constant touch with the best elements of the foreign community in Shanghai and elsewhere.

The human heart is the same whether its full pulsation begins in London or Timbuctoo. It is the attending circumstances and environments that have kept human beings away from and in suspicion of each other. Ignorance breeds misunderstanding and misunderstanding is the cause of the majority of international and inter-racial disputes.

In a cosmopolitan community such as Shanghai, it is only natural that controversies should arise between different races and creeds especially when we consider the growing feeling of nationalism which was largely absent from the minds of the great mass of our inhabitants 20 years ago. This spirit of nationalism is of course not always expressed in peaceful and orderly procedure and there is always the hazard, however remote of a catastrophe which would widen the chasm of separation, and nullify the efforts at co-operation which are essential to the good government and prosperity of the city.

The medium for the interpretation of the West to the East and vice versa was created 18 months ago, but the ball was not set rolling until this week. It is high time that both the Council and the Committee should get together, and do some real honest-to-goodness work for the mutual benefit of the foreign and Chinese communities of Shanghai. What an opportunity for a lesson to the rest of China and all the world!

The time is opportune! We all want a better Shanghai, a bigger and more prosperous Shanghai and above all a peaceful Shanghai!

The Council has cut the ice for the work. Let all concerned do the rest!

I Hate You!

BY DR. CH. FLEISCHER

No, I do not really hate you. Simply I was trying to put myself into the hater's boots (I wouldn't for the world be in his soul), to discover how he felt in hating.

And I found that even his shoes pinched me—just as I imagine his soul must hurt him—under the contracting process of hatred.

The subject which caused this unpleasant excursion into the unhappy heart of the hater was suggested by a discussion of Henry Ford and his anti-Jewish mania. We were looking at the unfeeling mask of the man reproduced in a current magazine. Our friend, himself the very embodiment of kindness, opined that Henry looked like the typical medieval inquisitor who used to find a pious delight in watching the torment of his victims.

And then our friend wanted to know what satisfaction human beings get from their malignancy. What, indeed? What joy does a little boy derive from darning a fly, or tying a tin can to a hapless canine, or whirling an alley cat by its tail?

Just the joy of sheer cussedness. And that is fun enough—for a cuss.

Not that we want to fight with epithets the pacific, get-the-boys-out - of-the-trenches-by-Christmas Henry.

Indeed, we were thinking of the callous little kid.

But to resume the subject of persecution mania. What makes Henry hate the Jew is the same impulse which originates the crazy Ku Klux Klan, fosters the holy animosities of the A. P. A. and kindred sublimations of pious prejudice, stimulate the color phobia against the negro, begets all the I-don't-know-why hatreds of mass against mass.

The hater is always a pathological specimen. He is hate sick. And that comes sadly close to being an incurable disease.

He likes to tell about his sickness. He is as pathetically self-centered as most maniacs. He lives in a world of his own making.

His imagining is a vivid reality to him. And he tries to make his own world real to you.

He is always eager to discuss symptoms with you and to justify his mania by the presumed delinquencies of his hate victims.

Henry, to whom all "history is bunk," will even delve into history, ancient and modern, to prove the Jew a world menace.

And your klacking Ku Klux will fill the air with clamorous evidence that, but for him, America would clutter into ruins as the result of the kursed conspiracy of Catholic, Jew, Mason and Negro.

Ha, Ha! The world is so full of fine chances to hate we should always be at it early and late.

No, we have not really solved the problem of hatred—except, to discover that the hater himself is the pitiful problem.

He is a subject for our scientific friend, the psycho-analyst, who may tell you, if you happen to be obsessed by his madness, that you are suffering from an "inferiority complex."

If you hate masses or groups, be sure that your little ego somehow feels itself menaced.

If you are wise enough to be a lover, it is because your self-respect feels secure.

GERMANS IN THE CUSTOMS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir:—Having read all the comments so far made on behalf of "Germans in the Customs" I most humbly beg to submit my opinion to the consideration of my own countrymen.

In the first instance I do not prefer the Germans or any other nationality being for my own, which is China. But being of a fair mind I dare say it is a shame for our country not to show that the decision in this matter rests only within her own power and right to help these unfortunates she has thrown on the street. Promises will not buy them and their families any sustenance to live on; that promise given a year ago should have been carried out by now. The hope and faith these few Germans had in us, we have so far badly repaid. Is that the peace we have fought for, that we carry on the revenge over them who have served us faithfully?

How did the British Government act in the case of the Germans who were employed by them in Egypt? Did they let them starve just to have a few less Germans to deal with? Inquiries will reveal the contrary. Shall we stand and see how others point the finger at us because we show ourselves as a weak nation? A movement should be made as pointed out by "Sympathy" to right the wrong which has been done. I most sincerely hope that some prominent persons will take the lead so that some relief may be brought to these ex-employees of the Chinese Maritime Customs. Thanking you for your kindness for inserting these few remarks, I beg to hand you herewith my card, and remain, Yours respectfully,

C. WONG.

Shanghai, Oct. 5, 1922.

FACING MORAL WELFARE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir:—The points on which opinions differ regarding the prevention of the dissemination of disease are whether

1. Segregation and supervision, or

2. Dispersal and non-supervision is the best course to follow.

In coming to a decision it is important to bear in mind that so-called "illicit" relations will survive and flourish whether you legalize the profession or you shut your eyes to its existence.

Mr. Crofoot asserts that hunger may be controlled by punishing the starving loaf-stealer. I beg to differ. You can neither "control" nor suppress hunger by making it illegal. Hunger of whatever kind will assert itself in spite of a thousand ordinances, the same as the craving of the flesh will insist upon satisfying its appetite in spite of any man-made law designed to prevent you.

Man-made law is sometimes stupid because the lawmakers disregard human nature. In highly civilized countries they do not "control" the victims of hunger by inflicting punishment on a starving loaf-stealer. They give him food.

Mr. Crofoot cannot have read my previous notes very carefully otherwise he would not have credited me with a "second wrong assumption." He will find that we are in entire agreement on that point.

The "third wrong assumption" with which Mr. Crofoot credits me is one I have never assumed. I have never alleged that examination here or elsewhere is effective. I trust the members of the Moral Welfare League are really not so ignorant as to need the opinion of the medical man who said that he protested against the idea "that security against infection can be obtained by examination once a week, or once a day, or once an hour." Of course it cannot, and any sensible person knows that without consulting a doctor. But as segregation and examination are certainly more effective than dispersal and non-supervision, it seems obvious that those interested in limiting the scourge of infection should support the former course and not the latter. Under the circumstances the policy pursued by the M. W. L. becomes comprehensible.

Unless, indeed, we desire to look at their propaganda from the point of view that many good people honestly believe that the satisfying of a perfectly human and irrepressible craving is sinful and immoral, and that, for that reason, it should be suppressed. But as this is an impossibility, would it not be better to adopt measures which will to some extent reduce the dangers associated with so-called illicit relations?

Gibbs Predicts Ruin For Germany
If She Doesn't End Mark Inflation

BY SIR PHILIP GIBBS

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Germany is slipping rapidly into the deep pit of international bankruptcy. In Berlin, where I write this article, every German is panic-stricken by the precipitous fall of the mark and asks what will happen to his country this winter. That question is answered not only by Germans but by British and American business men with one sinister word—revolution. By that they mean bread riots, social disorder and a tidal wave of anarchy impelled by the hungry masses. They see no way of escape from economic collapse and social upheaval, whatever happens, for Germany, by its own fault or not, has fallen into such a rotten financial condition that her diseases can only be cured by a remedy which would cause an immense amount of suffering.

That remedy—the only one—is to restrict the issue of paper money. For the last three years the German Government has met all her financial troubles by speeding up the printing presses to make notes. Her issue of these notes has reached figures beyond the imagination of ordinary mortals. They are astronomical figures reckoned in milliards. For some time this inflation of paper money created the illusion of prosperity and enabled German manufacturers to compete at cut-throat prices in world markets. Cheap money prevented unemployment and gave a feverish stimulus to industry. But every time new issues of notes flooded Germany the value and purchasing power declined inside and outside the country. Prices rose, and to catch up with them wages had to be increased. Then began the whirling of a vicious circle. New notes were issued to pay increased wages and the cost of government. Again paper money decreased in value. Again more was needed to buy the same amount of goods or service.

A FINANCIAL JAZZ
Again note issues multiplied. It became a mad dance, a financial jazz, round and round like a dog chasing its tail. Then the reality or economic laws challenged sanity. Germany has had to buy 38 percent of its grain supplies from abroad. She has had to buy from foreign countries raw material for clothing her people. She is buying 1,000,000 tons of coal weekly from England. She is buying meat from America. She cannot pay for these things in false paper money. Foreign exchanges reduce her marks to their true value, now standing as I write at about fourteen hundred to the dollar, nearly six thousand to the English pound. That means disaster of great magnitude.

So far this may be seen at Berlin. There are few signs of poverty apparent, there is pleasure even in the restaurants, cafes, theaters and public places. The masses and middle class folk have this paper money to spend, and spend it with prodigal hands. It would be foolish to be thrifty, for what is the use of saving marks when from one day to another, even from one hour to another, their value drops like stones bumping down hill? It is better to spend quickly, to buy fast, before prices rise.

I reached Cologne one night when marks had fallen heavily in exchange rates. The railway station was crowded with humble folk, who had come back from country markets laden with foodstuffs, which they had bought before prices rose. Women, girls and young boys staggered down the platforms under heavy burdens of potatoes, meat, cheese, pots, pans, wood and stuff for fires. In Berlin there was a wild rush to the big stores before prices were marked up again. They were marked up quickly. Foreigners, who swarm Berlin, are international vultures who prey on the diseased body of the European nations; rich tourists from America find Berlin a happy hunting ground. Increased prices, which hit Germans hard, mean nothing to them, for even if doubled and trebled they are still ridiculous in foreign exchange.

The other night I gave a dinner party at a good hotel to five friends. We had soup, fish, meat, ice, coffee and two bottles of Rhine wine. The little affair cost two dollars, with a handsome tip to the waiter. Taxidrivers multiply the figures on their clocks fifty times in a few days. It will be eighty times, but even then one can drive a mile for fifty cents. Railway traveling costs next to nothing for foreigners whose money is good. I went yesterday to Wannsee, a beautiful lake eight miles from Berlin. It cost me, second class, four cents. American ladies in Berlin are buying fur coats, art treasures, trinkets of all kinds at half and a third the price those imports with paper money. She must buy great quantities of food and fuel. She can do so only at a ruinous price.

Intellectually she is already shut up in a cage. Her professors, writers and students cannot buy foreign books. Even newspapers cannot afford to pay for news if it means keeping foreign correspondents abroad. It is impossible for her to pay the reparations unless the mark rises. In international value, it is impossible for her to pay her wage bill—which will be vastly increased, because workmen will demand a new scale to meet new prices during the next few weeks—without another vast issue of paper money, which will instantly fling the mark further to the depths.

I saw what happened in Austria. The Germans are going the same way. If she goes all the way, it is not only Germany ruined, but the greater part of Europe. What can she do to save herself? Only one thing, and that is very dangerous. She must stop printing money and gradually deflate her currency. Other nations which have done so, like Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Holland, Italy and England, have steadily improved their rate of exchange. By reducing the circulation of notes by 20 percent, Czechoslovakia improved her exchange value by 50 percent. That is a tremendous lesson to Germany.

But the risks also are tremendous. Directly Germany cuts down her note issues her people will find it hard to get enough paper money. Wages will have to go down before prices go down. Industrial activity will be restricted for lack of capital. There will be suffering. But though the remedy is severe and full of peril for the social state of Germany it is better than certain ruin which otherwise will overtake her. A dangerous adventure is better than inevitable death to the nation as well as individuals. That is Germany's alternative.

lines by a continuous curve. The curve will represent the orbit of the earth in nearly its true proportions, and you may be surprised to find that it looks so nearly like a perfect circle that the eye is deceived. When the earth's orbit is spoken of as an ellipse, and when the fact is added that the earth's distance from the sun as it goes around this ellipse varies to the extent of three million miles, most persons appear to think that a drawing of the orbit should represent a conspicuously longer one way than the other. But, in fact, the eccentricity of the orbit is only about one-sixtieth; that is, the distance of the focus occupied by the sun from the center of the major axis is only 1-60th of the length of that axis.

The orbit of the earth may also be "mapped" by simply measuring the angular diameter of the sun at intervals throughout the year and then drawing radiating lines corresponding in length with the relative diameters observed. This gives the shape, but not the size in miles.

The Sun's Distance For Each Month Of The Year

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Will you please advise me as to the distance of the earth from the sun at the different seasons of the year?"—A. H. F., Chicago.

We must begin with the understanding that it is the seasons as they are recognized in the northern hemisphere that we are dealing with, for when it is Winter with us, it is Summer in the southern hemisphere that we are dealing with seasons.

The orbit of the earth is an ellipse of small eccentricity. Every ellipse has two foci, one on either side of the center on the line of the major axis. When the ellipse represents the orbit of a planet, the sun is situated in one of the two foci, while the other focus is not occupied by any material body. In other words, it is merely a mathematical point, whose position can be determined because its situation is symmetrical with regard to the focus occupied by the sun.

It so happens that, at the present time, the northern pole of inclined axis around which the earth turns in its daily rotation leans in the direction of the sun when the earth is at that end of its elliptical orbit which is most distant from the focus occupied by the sun and nearest to the unoccupied focus.

Now, when the north pole inclines toward the sun the latter must be high above the southern horizon, and consequently Summer must reign in the northern hemisphere, while perpetual day prevails at the north pole. But at this very time the earth is in that part of its orbit that is farthest from the sun. It follows that Summer in the northern hemisphere occurs when the earth is at its greatest distance from the sun. Conversely, Winter occurs when the earth is nearest the sun. In the southern hemisphere the situation is exactly reversed.

I will now give you the approximate figures for the distance between the sun and the earth at the beginning of each month of the year: January 1, 91,350,000 miles; February 1, 91,550,000 miles; March 1, 92,075,000 miles; April 1, 92,855,000 miles; May 1, 93,630,000 miles; June 1, 94,220,000 miles; July 1, 94,450,000 miles; August 1, 94,275,000 miles; September 1, 94,050,000 miles; October 1, 93,975,000 miles; November 1, 92,175,000 miles; December 1, 91,550,000 miles. The mean distance for the year is 92,837,000 miles.

Thus you see that the earth is, in round numbers, 3,100,000 miles farther from the sun on the 1st of January than on the 1st of July. But on the 1st of January the sun is over twenty-three degrees south of the equator, while on the 1st of July it is over twenty-three degrees north of the equator, and this difference of more than forty-six degrees in the elevation of the sun above the horizon at noon, together with the consequent longer duration of the day as compared with the night far more than suffices to make up for the effect of the three million miles' increase of distance.

Draw a straight line to represent the major axis of the earth's elliptical orbit, and divide it into two parts respectively equal in length to the earth's distance from the sun on January 1 and July 1. The point of division will represent the focus of the ellipse where the sun is situated. From this point draw ten other straight lines radiating like the spokes of a wheel, and separated from one another by angles of 30 degrees.

Make each of these lines equal in length to the earth's distance from the sun at the beginning of a corresponding month. Starting with the end of the major axis marked January 1, make the next the day as compared with the line equal in length to the February distance, and so on until you have completed the circuit.

Then join the ends of all the another lot of superb rarities of Postage Stamps

Kindly note this: If you buy stamps at our auctions, you do not buy "a cat in a sack"—Every lot is fully guaranteed as regards genuineness by Mr. Charles Pien, the Shanghai expert, and if desired, his guarantee will be backed up to any extent by a Shanghai Bank. We often hear the Yarn "All stamps fully guaranteed". Just ask by whom, and you will be speedily disillusioned.
It pays to be on the safe side, otherwise you had better give up stamp collecting. Remember that genuine good stuff always has its value.
